Crochet Guild of America, the organization for crocheters, cordially invites the Girls Scouts of America* to participate in "I Can Crochet" Day on Saturday, July 26, 2003. This event, held in conjunction with the Guild's Annual Crochet Conference at the beautiful Radisson Hotel O'Hare, will give every scout who attends a chance to learn the art of crochet.

The girls will be assigned to a crochet instructor and will be given materials for making three simple crochet projects—a shoestring, a scrunchie, and a beaded crochet bracelet. Yarn and hook and other supplies will be provided at no charge to take home. In addition to learning to crochet, scouts may purchase a patch inscribed with "I Can Crochet" (cost $1.00) provided by DRG Corporation. They will be well on their way to earning their Textiles & Fabrics Badge. Scouts, leaders, family and friends are also invited to shop at the vendor mall where every crochet product imaginable will be available. Also free of charge is "Rhythm of Crochet," a unique exhibit of crochet art.

For further information, please call (847) 776-3934.

*Boy Scouts and any kids who don't belong to troops are welcome to attend, IF between the ages of 8-12 AND accompanied by an adult.
